CCB Police arrests 10 chain-snatchers

Gold chains, ornaments weighing one kg worth Rs. 50 lakh seized

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RK&BCT)- Police gained an upper hand over chain-snatchers this Dasara as 10 notorious inter-district chain-snatchers have been nabbed by the City Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths. Over 25 gold chains and gold ornaments weighing one kilogram have been seized from them. Six of the accused are blood relatives.

Addressing a press conference at his office this morning, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta said that two minors too were involved in the cases and as such, their identities have been kept confidential.

"After obtaining permission from the Court of Law, several ornaments were returned to their original owners and the process of returning other valuables has started," the Commissioner said.

As several incidents of chain-snatchings were reported in the city, terrorising women who walk on lonely stretches and even women who are in crowded places, teams were formed to nab the criminals. As some of the cases had inter-district ramifications, the cases were handed over to the CCB, he said.

Along with the gold and other valuables, seven two-wheelers used for the crime have been seized from the accused. The accused have been identified as Gopal, Chandan alias Chandu, Ramesh, Soorappa alias Soori, Vrithik, Rangaswamy alias Baddappa and Manju alias Bili Manja alias Kalla Manja.

With the arrests, two cases each from Nazarbad Police Station, V.V. Puram, Alanahalli and Hebbal, one case each from Narasimharaja, Ashokapuram, Krishnaraja, Kaulande (District limits) and Lakshmipuram, three cases from Vijayanagar, four cases each from Kuvempunagar and Saraswathipuram have been cracked. In addition, one case registered at Chamarajanagar Rural Police Station and one more from Channarayapatna in Hassan have been solved.

One more person who was involved in house burglary has been arrested and 70 grams of ornaments have been recovered from him.

Purchase Gold Cards, tickets only through website: DC

FIRs will be registered against all blackmarketeers, clarifies Minister

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RK, PM & BCT)- All the Gold Cards for Dasara will be sold only through https://mysoredasara.gov.in/ and there is no intermediate arrangements nor any tour agency has been tied up for the purpose, clarified Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Bagadi Gautham, who is also the Dasara Special Officer.

The Gold Card sale timings, the process involved, tickets for Jumboo Savari and Torchlight Parade have been made available on the website and it is a transparent process, he said. The DC has urged the public not to purchase Gold Cards and tickets from unauthorised persons or agencies.

The clarification comes in the wake of reports emerging from Bengaluru that certain travel agencies have booked the Gold Cards in bulk and are selling them in black market for Rs. 7,000 while the price of the actual Gold Card is Rs. 4,999.

The Federation of Associations of Mysuru had lodged a written complaint with the DC saying that one particular travel agency from Bengaluru had booked the Gold Cards and was creating demand thereby selling them for Rs. 7,000.

Producing an audio clip that purportedly contained the conversation between the travel agent and a customer, the Federation questioned the administration how the agency could access hundreds of Gold Cards when only 1,000 of them were printed. Following the complaint, the Mysuru District Administration took legal steps in connection with the reports of blackmarketing.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

COVID-19 posed one of the greatest challenges to the education system with school closures. According to UNESCO, the pandemic has led to school closures in 191 countries, leaving 1.6 billion (90.2%) students out of schools. The World Economic Forum has estimated that 320 million learners in India have been affected by COVID-19 and have transitioned to e-learning. India is marked by inter and intra-household disparities in access to technologies such as television, laptops, tablets, mobile phones and the Internet. In September 2020, a phone-based survey conducted by the Annual State of Education Report (ASER) showed that one in three children in rural area had no learning activity, and only one in 10 had access to live online classes. Learning, or lack of it, is only one part of the problem; closing of schools led to the non-availability of mid-day meals, disruption in routines, mobility restrictions on play, and lack of interactions with peers — all of which affected children's overall well-being.

Amid this grim scenario, Karnataka ushered in a new social movement through rejuvenation and recalibration of its 5,600-strong network of rural libraries. Historically, decentralised governance through Panchayat Raj Institutions (PRIs) has been pivotal to empowering rural communities in Karnataka. A three-tier model of governance with Gram Panchayats, Taluk and Zilla Panchayats has been at the centre of developmental activities in the State with robust implementation of the gender and caste-based reservations. Additionally, based on a State legislation for libraries, the local bodies levy a library cess, which supports development and maintenance of its libraries.

Rural libraries are unique experiments to reimagine the education system supported by decentralised learning spaces for rural children. Along with a potential to harness Karnataka's rich traditions of intellectual discussions, literature and music, rural libraries are strategically placed to be a part of policy framework to leverage Karnataka's existing vantage at the Centre of India's science and innovation economy. It can produce the next generation of leaders in science, literature and culture.

'Ambaari' bus ride

"Swalpa adjust madkolli Swamy"

Sir,

I, along with my wife, took a ride on 'Ambaari' double decker bus yesterday night, to see the city illumination. I had to book online as I was told by KSTDC enquiry that the tickets have to be booked online only.

I chose the roof top seats with high expectations, since the beauty of illumination is highly appealing when an illuminated street is viewed with the cascade of lights. Much to my dismay, as I sat on my reserved seat, I noticed that the body of the bus at the front was high enough to obstruct a view of the front. I could enjoy the lighting looking sideways only.

Though standing was not the right thing to do, even that did not help very much. Added to that, the co-passengers stood up because of their understandable exuberance and selfie takings.

The scheduled departure time was 8 pm as per the ticket, and there was more than one bus with different codes and those buses were arriving at different time from their previous trips leading to confusion for people to board. Some buses left earlier leading to arguments by passengers who had valid tickets for 8 pm departure.

Passengers had to wait on pavements as the buses were stationed on the main road, for pick up, in front of KSTDC office. All in all, it was a case of "swalpa adjust madkolli swamy" and there was no professional management at any point.

Last but not the least, a matter which may not directly relate to KSTDC is about the car parking for localites who would come in their two wheelers/ four wheelers to reach the starting point. The only available place is a lane opposite to the KSTDC office, leading to Guru Residency. I was just fortunate to get a parking space there. In the coming days as the number of visitors usually swells, one might be lucky if one can get a parking space.

Bengaluru, Sept. 30- The Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) has postponed the announcement of the revised UGCET-2022 results to October 1.

The KEA, in a press release, said: "The revised UGCET-2022 results as per the orders of High Court shall be announced on October 1."

Digitisation of rare palm-leaf manuscripts

Minister opens full-fledged Fumigation Chamber at ORI

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (RKB&BCT)- A full-fledged Fumigation Chamber to conserve rare palm-leaf manuscripts at the Oriental Research Institute (ORI) was inaugurated by the Minister for Higher Education, IT and BT Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan yesterday.

ORI, established 130 years ago, is a repository of thousands of manuscripts that date back to more than 700 years in languages including Sanskrit, Kannada, Tamil and Telugu. It also has 41,000 rare printed and other types of manuscripts. The manuscripts include the rarest and a complete treatise of Kautilya's Arthashastra.

These manuscripts of ancient and mediaeval India are preserved by way of literary works and treatise on various subjects. University of Mysore (UoM) has signed an MoU (Memorandum of Understanding) with Bengaluru's Mythic Society for digitisation of manuscripts.

Normally chemical treatments are given using Fumigation Chambers to protect palm-leaves from white ants, fungus and other insects. Dried and powdered leaves of Aswagandha in small packets are kept with the manuscripts covered in clothes to repel insect attack.

Knowledge at fingertips

Impressed with the collection of manuscripts, Dr. Ashwathnarayan said that a slice of Indian heritage is available in the manuscripts collected at the ORI over several decades. "I appreciate the ongoing efforts in conservation and digitisation and once the project is complete, the knowledge and ancient Indian wisdom enshrined in the manuscripts would be easily available to scholars for research. This would add to the knowledge base," he added.

As per the project specifications, the palm-leaf manuscripts will be cleaned and a regular process for cleaning and preserving them will be put in place while the catalogue of titles that include palm leaf manuscripts, handwritten works and collection of printed works will be made available to the public.

Also, all the palm leaf works and books will be image-scanned and preserved in a safe place, while the images will be put for crowd-sourced text digitisation. The first phase entailing cleansing and conservation will take two years after which the scanning, digitisation and hosting a website will be taken up in a phase-wise manner, the Minister was told by UoM Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar.

Process ensures longevity

The manuscripts are first cleaned with brushes and placed in a fumigation chamber to improve longevity of these manuscripts. For fumigation, the manuscripts will be placed inside the Fumigation Chamber to make them free from dust and termites.

At one time, around 20-25 manuscripts could be fumigated. With this simple technology, these manuscripts may be preserved for another 400-500 years. After the cleaning process, lemon grass oil is applied to the fumigated manuscripts and dried for some time.

The Minister was told that the next process involves wrapping the manuscripts in a red cotton cloth before digitisation. After the manuscripts dry following lemon grass oil application, starch content is completely removed from the red cloth to ensure that there is no moisture.

As part of the digitisation, the manuscripts will be image-scanned. Palm leaf works will be identified and their Unicode digitisation will be undertaken with the help of manuscript readers. The scanned copies are then converted to formats including PDF, jpeg and PNG and uploaded on the website that will be the exclusive property of the ORI, the Minister was told.

Chief Minister's e-administration advisor Belur Sudarshan, Mythic Society Honorary Secretary V. Nagaraj, ORI Director Dr. Ramapriya and Registrar Prof. R. Shivappa were present.

HC directs Karnataka Govt. to complete ZP,TP ward delimitation process in 12 weeks

Bengaluru, Sept. 30- The Karnataka High Court on Monday gave the State Government 12 more weeks to complete the ongoing process of ward delimitation for ZP (Zilla Panchayat) and TP (Taluk Panchayat) polls.

The HC's direction comes on an appeal filed by the Government, which argued that the Delimitation Commission headed by retired IAS Officer N. Lakshminarayan had written to it on Sept.19 seeking more time.

Polls to 31 ZPs and 239 TPs of the State were due in May, 2021. While they were initially delayed due to COVID pandemic, they were further delayed after the Government stripped the State Election Commission (SEC) of ward delimitation powers and vested them in a newly formed Commission on Sept. 26, 2021.

After its constitution, the Commission consulted stakeholders, including political parties and representatives of civil society. It is said to have prepared its reports, but they had to be altered following the passing of a fresh Bill, which stipulates new guidelines to fix the number of wards. A taluk with a population of less than 50,000 should now have 7 ZP members and a taluk with more than 2 lakh population should have one ZP seat for every 12,000 population. But the SEC is said to be keen on holding these polls as quickly as possible and is mulling on filing an appeal.

Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri's shehnai spellbinds audience

- Performance shifted from market-place to serene Mysore Palace
- Son performs in place of Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri; another blunder by officials

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (BCT)- The Dasara Cultural Programmes Sub-Committee has saved itself from huge embarrassment after changing the venue of shehnai performance from the earlier scheduled Chikka Gadiyara, the market-place, to the peaceful Mysore Palace premises.

The Sub-Committee, in deference to the wishes and sentiments of music connoisseurs, who had resented its move to allocate Chikka Gadiyara stage to 'Shehnai Chakravarthy' Padma Shri awardee Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri to perform last evening from 8 pm to 9.30 pm, shifted the venue to Palace.

Star of Mysore had flagged the goof-up yesterday by publishing a report 'Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri to perform amidst cacophony' and the report highlighted how the celebrated artiste was insulted by allotting a venue that is full of noises and the sounds of vehicles in a constantly busy area.

Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri performing at the Mysore Palace premises yesterday as part of Dasara-2022.

Music-lovers had questioned the application of mind by the officials while deciding on the artistes and allocating space for their performance. Finally, bowing to public demand, the Dasara Cultural Programmes Sub-Committee shifted the performance venue from Chikka Gadiyara to the Mysore Palace premises.

Son performs in place of father

The audience were left spellbound by the performance and they thanked the Sub-Committee for the last-minute change. However, another glaring goof-up committed by the Sub-Committee came to the fore at the Palace premises when Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri, the son of Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri, came on stage to perform in place of his father.

Though the performance of Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri was second to none and impeccable, the audience, who came to the Palace premises to listen to Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri was disappointed. This mix-up too happened due to the irresponsibility of the officials.

While the officials actually had requested Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri to perform in this Dasara, the name of Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri was printed in the invitations and the Dasara booklet. Assistant Director of Kannada and Culture Department Dr. M.D. Sudarshan clarified that there has been an error in printing the names.

Notably, when Star of Mysore spoke to Nirmala Matapathi, Deputy Director, Kannada and Culture Department, who is also the Working President, Dasara Cultural Programmes Sub-Committee, she too mentioned that Pandit Dr. S. Ballesh Bhajantri will indeed be performing.

However, the embarrassing goof-ups and lack of forethought and knowledge were quickly forgotten with the splendid shehnai music performance by Dr. Krishna Ballesh Bhajantri.

The icing on the cake was the peaceful atmosphere at the Mysore Palace where the artiste could perform to his optimum level. Accompanied by other musicians, he entertained the audience for over one hour. He also sang Hindustani classical songs, mesmerising the audience.

Music and dance regale crowd

Mysuru, Sept. 30 (SBD&DM)- The fourth day of Dasara cultural programmes in the Mysore Palace premises saw World Music (Karnatak instruments), Vachanamrutha and Police Band regale the crowd last evening. Bengaluru's 'Chakrafonics' troupe, headed by Pandit Praveen D. Rao presented 'Vishwasangeetha', a blend of Karnatak musical instruments, which sought to send a message to the world on the importance of Indian Music, earned a lot of appreciation from the crowd for its speciality.

The concert featured rendition of Dasara Pada, Tatvapada, Folk and Western Musical songs. Varijashri Venugopal played flute apart from rendition of songs. Noted singer Ajay Warier's singing, the performance of percussion instrument players Shanmugam, Suryakiran and others lent more colour to the performance.

Later, Dharwad's Pandit Venkatesh Kumar presented 'Vachana Gayana' which seemed to take the audience to the world of Gods (Daivaloka).

Bengaluru's Madhulita Mohapatra and team presented Odissi dance which left the audience spellbound. She performed to a song on Goddess Chamundeshwari 'Jaya Jaya Chamundeshwari...', which described the killing of Demon Mahishasura.

Earlier, the Karnataka Police Band's musical performance (English and Karnatak music) enthralled the audience. The band players R. Mohan and R. Dasappa presented Patnam Subramanya Iyer's 'Valaachi' (Navaraga Maalike Varna) song which got a huge applause from the crowd. The band also played Muthuswamy Dikshitar's 'Sri Mahaganapatim...' and 'Notu Swara...', Kadri Gopalnath and Praveen Godkhindi duo's famed 'Raag rang' tune.

Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra arrives

Maintaining that Government and public institutions and as well as the media were under the control of the ruling BJP, he said that he has taken out the yatra in order to reach out to the people, as he found no other way to interact with the people and hear their problems, with the Government muzzling dissenting voices.

Asserting that the rally was not limited just to speeches, he said it is aimed to hear the people's grievances and problems, amidst rampant corruption, rising unemployment, spiralling prices, social unrest and communal disharmony in the country.

Projecting unity

Strongly opposing the Government policy of privatising PSUs, he contended that the constitution and democracy are under severe threat from the BJP. Rahul claimed only Congress could unite the country. Rahul earlier inaugurated the rally by beating the drum (Nagari), holding the hands of Shivakumar and Siddharamaiah as if to project unity amidst simmering discontentment.

The rally commenced with the playing of 'Vande Mataram', following which National Flag was presented to Rahul Gandhi. He later handed it over to Shivakumar who in turn, passed it on to Congress Seva Dal State President Ramachandrappa.

During the rally, renowned writer Devanur Mahadeva presented a copy of the Indian Constitution to Rahul Gandhi and appealed to him to continue working for 'saving democratic institutions and the Constitution.'

As Rahul Gandhi arrived at Gundlupet, a small aircraft attached with a helium-filled balloon carrying a picture of the Congress party flag and a banner that carried the message 'NSUI welcomes Rahul Gandhi', flew all over the town.

After the rally, Rahul resumed his padayatra to Shaneshwara Temple, which is about 4 km from the town and rested for some time, during which he interacted with Soliga community members and family members of COVID victims who died for want of oxygen at Chamarajanagar District Hospital in May last year.

Other leaders who were part of the rally were Rajya Sabha MP Jairam Ramesh, former CM Veerappa Moily, leaders M.B. Patil, Eshwar Khandre, Dr. G. Parameshwar, R.V. Deshpande, Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, MLAs R. Narendra and Puttarangashetty, former MLAs from Chamarajanagar district A.R. Krishnamurthy, Geetha Mahadevaprasad, S. Balaraj and Jayanna, local Congress leader Ganesh Prasad and a host of other leaders.

Rahul had set off his 3,500-km Yatra on Sept. 10. The rally is expected to enter Mysuru city on Oct. 3. From Mysuru, the yatra will traverse through several districts of the State, before culminating at Ballari on Oct. 19 from where it will enter Andhra Pradesh.

Six of the accused are blood relatives having their roots in Chamarajanagar and they have been living at Hebbal and Devayyanahundi since many years. Predominantly, they worked as masons and security guards so as to not arouse suspicion," Dr. Chandragupta said.

"The matter has come to my notice, and legal steps have been initiated. The public are requested to buy the gold cards only through online visiting www.mysoredasara.gov.in," the DC said in a press release.

This morning, Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar told reporters that the DC was seized of the matter and appropriate steps will be taken against blackmarketeers. "FIRs will be registered against organisations and agencies who book the Gold Cards in bulk and sell them in the black market. We printed only 1,000 cards and 500 were sold online. The purchase records are being screened and if anyone has done illegality, they will be punished," he said. The Minister denied that the sale of Gold Pass in the black market was an insider's job.
